

AMENDMENTS TO THE ABSTRACT:

Kindly replace the original abstract with the following:

C.1 A ~~Learning~~ learning system and method for visually displaying learning contents stored on a memory onto a display for facilitating easy learning by humans. The learning system and method being capable of causing a visual presentation to be displayed on a display screen for a predetermined period of time such as less than 0.2 second. The learning contents can be introduced at changing locations in a region of the visual presentation on the display screen. The visual presentation includes, for example, a computer game, a television film, or a video game being displayed on the display screen